Dr. Frazier's Root Bitters.

Frazier's Root Bitters are not a dram-shop whisky beverage, but are strictly medicinal in every sense. They act strongly upon the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels open and regular, make the weak strong, heal the lungs, build up the nerves and cleanse the blood and system of every impurity.

For dizziness, rush of blood to the head tending to apoplexy, dyspepsia, fever and ague, dropsy, pimples and blotches, scrofulous humors and sores, tetter, ring worm, white swelling, erysipelas, sore eyes and for young men suffering from weakness or debility caused from imprudence, and to females in delicate health, Frazier's Root Bitters are especially recommended.

Dr. Frazier: I have used two bottles of your Root Bitters for dyspepsia, dizziness, weakness and kidney disease, and they did me more good than the doctors and all the medicine I ever used. From the first dose I took I began to mend, and I am now in perfect health, and feel as well as I ever did. I consider your medicine one of the greatest blessings.

PILES! PILES! PILES!

A Sure Cure Found at Last—No One Need Suffer!

A sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams (an Indian remedy) called Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of twenty-five or thirty years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electricities do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for piles, itching of the private parts, and nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. Williams' Pile Ointment: I have used scores of pile cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave me such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment.

WHAT THE GIRLS SHOULD GAIN,

A Knowledge of Housekeeping Such as the Grandmothers Used to Acquire.

Baltimore Sun.

By all means let the girls learn how to cook. What right has a girl to marry and go into a house of her own unless she knows how to superintend every branch of housekeeping, and she can not properly superintend it unless she has some practical knowledge herself. Most men marry without thinking whether the woman of his choice is capable of cooking him a meal, and it is a pity he is so short-sighted, as his health, his cheerfulness, and indeed his success in his life depend in a very great degree upon the kind of food he eats; in fact the whole household is influenced by their diet. Feed them on fried cake, fried meats, hot bread and other indigestible viands, day after day, and they will need medicine to make them well. A man will take alcohol to counteract evil effects of such food, and the wife and children must be physiced.

Let all the girls have a share in the house before they marry; let each superintend some department by turns. It need not occupy half the time to see that the house has been properly swept, dusted, and put in order, or to prepare puddings and make dishes, that many young ladies spend in reading novels that enervate both mind and body and unfit them for ever-day life. Women do not as a general rule get pale faces by doing housework. Their sedentary habits, in overheated rooms, combined with ill-chosen food, are to blame for bad health. Our mothers used to pride themselves on their housekeeping and fine needlework. Why should not we?

A Story from Pompeii.

Our (Daily News) Naples correspondent writes: "Two or three weeks ago a touching discovery was made during the excavation at Pompeii. In one of the narrow streets were found signs of human remains in the dried mud lying on the top of the strata of lapilli reaching to the second floor of the houses, and which the usual process of pouring plaster of Paris into the hollow left by the impression of a body had been accomplished, there came to light the form of a little boy. Within the house opposite to the second floor window of which this infantile form lay were found a gold bracelet and the skeleton of a woman, the arms stretched toward the child. The plaster form of this woman could not be obtained, the impression being too much destroyed. It is evident that the mother, when the liquid mud began to flow, had put her little boy out of the window into the lapilli in the hope of saving him, and he must no doubt have been overwhelmed. The plaster figure of the child has not yet been placed in the little museum near the entrance of Pompeii, but is kept in a house not far from the Temple of Isis."

A Franklin street man awoke on Saturday night to hear some one on his stoop. he went out there and caught the intruder a stranger. "Who are you?" demanded the householder. "I can not tell a lie," replied the stranger, in a rather thick voice, "I am Vennor." The shock was so great that the owner of the premises went over backward, and striking on his head saw stars enough to keep his entire family in weather for months to come.

A countryman climbed out of a wagon entered a music store, and said he wanted to buy a piece of music for his son. "If your son is not very far advanced, perhaps this would do," said the clerk, handing him over a piece of sheet music. "How much does it cost?" "Fifty cents." "Well, that's too easy for him. The last piece I bought for him cost seventy cents. I reckon he knows enough to play a piece worth $1.25 at least. A 50c. piece is too low, I want a higher piece." The clerk accidentally found an operatic piece that was difficult enough, and the proud father shelled out the cash.

WONDERS OF THE WEST.

A Genius of the Frontier, and What He Did When Put Upon His Mettle.

The most original and ready of all hars was an old army scout who settled in Western Texas. He had won such a reputation that a general of the army, in passing his cabin to a military post, halted, and called upon him, informing him that he had heard of him so often all along the frontier that he desired to make his acquaintance and hear him tell of the strange sights he had seen in the far West. The old scout thereupon proceeded to say that he had indeed seen strange sights out West; that upon one scouting trip he had come upon a high mountain that consisted of a single crystal of diamond, so clear that he could see through it herds of elk and deer on the other side, and that when he was going around to get at them he came upon a buffalo that was in a standing position and was entirely petrified; even the end of the animal's tail, which was in an erect position over his back, as he was about to charge when petrification set in, was also petrified.

"Stop," said the general, "now I've got you. The gravity would have caused the end of the tail to drop down."

"No," replied the scout, "the gravity was petrified, too."

A widow in Japan who is willing to think of matrimony wears her hair tied and twisted around a long shell hair-pin placed horizontally across the back of the head. When a widow firmly resolves never to change her name again she cuts her hair short on her neck and combs it back without any part.

Piles have been lately driven by electricity across the River Lea, at Hatfield Park, the seat of the Marquis of Salisbury. These piles are to support a coffer-dam. The power was transmitted by two dyno-electric machines connected by two conducting wires, to a pile driver on a barge in the river. The "dolly" weighed from four to five hundred-weight, but was moved with easy and regularity.

The Atlanta Constitution's spring poet tells all about time "when blackbirds' call and cow-bells' clang break on the fumed air." They are spreading manure in Georgia.

Dr. Strother, Kentucky lecturer, holds that the Garden of Eden was the Mississippi valley, and if that is so we think Adam and Eve were very fortunate in being chased out.

John Drummond, an inmate of the Dayton (O.) Insane Asylum, was choked to death in self-defence Wednesday night, by a room companion, upon whom he had made a violent assault.

Health Officer Miles reports one hundred and fifty-nine new cases of smallpox in Cincinnati since his last report, March 22d. The Board of Health ordered free vaccination to be resumed at once.

The music teachers held a State Convention at Columbus, Ohio, with a good representation from all the principal cities. Committees were appointed and arrangements to form a permanent association.

In consequence of the overflow in the Mississippi valley Talmage will postpone his proposed lecturing tour through that section. How wonderfully does providence temper the wind to the shorn lamb.

The Ohio Senate reconsidered the vote by which it passed on Wednesday the bill to prohibit the issuing of railroad passes to State officers, legislators, editors, publishers and others. The bill was then put on its passage and lost by a large majority.
